

Dari Ann says

Did you ever have WONDERFUL baked ham left over, and didn't know what to do with it? Well, here's a "yummy" loaf your family will love. Serve with mashed sweet potatoes in orange cups (saved from breakfast juicing), pickled peaches, green salad and your favorite dessert with DARI-CRAFT whipped cream.

Dari Ann Ham Loaf

3 slices bread (dried or fresh)
1/4 cup DARI-CRAFT
Crumble bread in mixing bowl, add DARI-CRAFT and mix as for dressing. Add—

1 1/2 cups ground ham
1/2 cup (1 lb.) ground veal
1 onion chopped
1 unbeaten egg

Mix into loaf and stick top with whole cloves and pour over the following sauce.

1/4 cup water
1/4 cup vinegar
1 cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon ground mustard

Bake about 350° for 45 min. basting frequently.

Be sure to use DARI-CRAFT in your whipped sweet potatoes, too, and you won't need butter. It's DARI-CRAFT that MAKES the flavor, so be sure to get some next time you're at the store.

Americans Have Learned New Tactics Since Pearl Harbor

problems before Pearl Harbor, the carriers usually were spotted a hundred miles behind the battleline and some of their planes carried smoke tanks in the bomb bay. The purpose of the carrier planes, an admiral explained, was mainly "to do the spotting, put down smoke screens, engage enemy spotters and perhaps harass the enemy."

Lost Four Cruisers

In November, 1942 our battle-ships fired their main battery at an enemy surface force for the first time since the Spanish-American war, 1898-44 years before.

Likewise, we had not fought a modern night action until August, 1942, when at Savo island a small Japanese cruiser force almost wiped out our Guadalcanal screening force. We lost four cruisers within minutes without inflicting any appreciable damage to the Japanese.

At our first amphibious landing at Guadalcanal, supply lines failed, our men were bombarded almost nightly, reinforcements and replacements did not come, air coverage was lacking.

At Attu in the Aleutians our California-trained men were not equipped with the right Jap-killing tools and the right clothes. Casualties as a result were high.

And yet, all these—Pearl Harbor, Savo island, Attu, Guadalcanal, Tarawa—paid off because we learned the know-how of jungle fighting, carrier battles, night fighting.

Because these men died in the past three years—on Pearl Harbor to Leyte—we've learned the know-how. Succeeding victories will be cheaper.

Constitution Is Club Topic

The importance of the proposed new Missouri constitution which will be voted upon by the people February 27, was explained by Prof. William L. Bradshaw, University of Missouri, Columbia, speaking before the Sedalia Kiwanis club meeting in Bothwell hotel Thursday noon.

The speaker reviewed the serious work of the constitutional convention delegates of which he was one, in preparing the document by democratic and non-partisan processes. He expressed his favorable opinion of it as he explained numerous applications it will have in superceding the old and not properly organized and arranged constitution of 1875.

Prof. Bradshaw was introduced by William Ward, program chairman for December.

Club directors will meet Friday noon at the Fifth street Methodist church, Clyde Heynen, vice president, announced.

Guests present were: Corporal William Faulkner with Clyde Heynen; William Green, Kansas City, with Robert G. Henderson; G. T. Callendar, St. Louis, with C. R. Kilbury; A. L. Pringle with Mayor A. H. Wilks.

and librarian of congress, assistant secretary.

Slap at President

Connally made no effort to hide his feeling that the senate's action was a slap at the foreign relations committee if not a direct blow at the president. Acting Republican leader White of Maine, who voted for all the nominations in the committee, backed up Connally.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) offered the motion, Senator Clark (D-Mo) helped him perfect it and Senator Chandler (D-Ky) was a leader in the fight for its approval.

The opponents of immediate confirmation argued that the state department aides would wield important influence on America's foreign policy and that relatively little was known about them.

Connally had an answer for that, declaring the president "is going to dominate the foreign policy of this government." The secretary of state, he added, of course will be a representative of the president.

Mrs. A. L. Pollard

Word has been received in Sedalia of the death of Mrs. Amy Pollard, widow of the late Dr. A. L. Pollard, who died at the home of her niece in Denver, Colo., on November 13.

Mrs. Pollard was a member of the First Methodist church in Sedalia and the P. E. O. She left Sedalia about eight years ago, and she and a friend had been making their home together in Denver, following the death of her sister about a year ago. She had never been ill a day in her life, and the past year had taken several trips and been very active. She complained of being tired and upon consulting a physician was advised to go to the home of her niece for a rest. She did, and died two weeks later.

Mrs. Pollard would have been eighty-nine years old had she lived until December 20. Each year the members of the Sedalia P. E. O. remembered her with cards on her birthday after she left this city.

About three years ago she learned to write on a typewriter and took a course in short story writing. She wrote a number of stories, some of which she sent back to be read at the P. E. O. meetings. Recently one of her stories was accepted by a magazine.

Mrs. Pollard is survived by two adopted children, a daughter, Mrs. Carl Bell, Cheyenne, Wyo., and a son, who resides in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Mr. Arhen was born at Murray, Iowa, June 10, 1880, the son of the late Michael and Ann McCarthy Ahern. For the past twenty-five years he has lived in Sedalia and has been employed in a drug store.

He is survived by one sister, who was at his bedside when he died, Mrs. Charles T. Engle, Des Moines, Iowa; three brothers, Michael Ahern, Des Moines, Iowa, Mathew A. Ahern, Creston, Iowa, and Albert Ahern, Osceola, Iowa.

The body was taken to the Ewing funeral home and will be sent to Des Moines Iowa, at 5:00 o'clock this evening. Services will be held at Des Moines Saturday. Interment will be in a Des Moines cemetery.

THINGS have a way of happening when least expected. The good and the bad, but especially the bad.

I was in a particularly good mood that day. Having disposed of my daily chores faster than usual, I decided to surprise Mickey by coming over early. But the moment she opened the door, I saw something was wrong.

"What's the matter?" I asked.
She didn't answer me, so I followed her into the living room.
Don was there, sprawled in an armchair. His face was flushed and it was obvious that I'd interrupted an argument. I glanced from him back to Mickey.

"For Pete's sake!" I said. "Why doesn't someone talk?"

Mickey came close to me, fighting back tears.

"Since when," she asked, "do businessmen need bodyguards?"

"Suppose we stop talking in riddles," I said.

Mickey strode over to her brother. With a fierceness which I'd never suspected, she jerked open his coat. For a moment he tried to resist, but she cowed him with a slap in the face. Strapped under his coat was a brand-new leather shoulder holster with a gun in it.

"For Mister Boggio's protection," Mickey said. "Tell him about it, Don, in case he doesn't know."

At first the kid was sullen and refused to talk. But prodded by Mickey he finally started. What he had to say was an earful.

About a week ago Boggio had asked him if he was interested in doubling his salary. At first Don had thought he was kidding but Boggio soon convinced him he was on the level. If Don would learn to handle a gun he'd get him a license and he could add the job of bodyguard to that of driver. Quite a number of people, Boggio explained, employed bodyguards.

The President of the United States, millionaires, movie stars, and many others.

So Don had agreed to practice night in a shooting gallery, and finally Boggio had been satisfied with his marksmanship and given him the gun. It was all on the level; the gun was registered in Don's name, and there was nothing illegal about his carrying it. True to his promise, Boggio had given him the raise and he'd come home to tell Mickey about it, expecting her to be delighted. Wouldn't I explain to her that she had nothing to worry about?

Such a degree of innocence bowed me over.

I thought for a moment, then sat down on the arm of Don's chair.

"Look," I said, "I'm going to give you some good advice. Tell Mr. Boggio you've thought it over and changed your mind. You don't want the job. But don't tell him you talked to me."

He was stubborn. "Why shouldn't I want that job? I've been doing all right. And now I'm going to do even better."

"I'm not asking you," I said.
"I'm telling you. You'll quit that job and I'll get you another."

But there was no ordering Don around now. I'd always considered him as an overgrown kid who, despite his size, could be made to do as he was told. Apparently the easy dough had already changed him. If there was something wrong with that job, I should tell him what. Wasn't I Boggio's attorney?
Didn't I work for him, too? And if I did, why couldn't he? Then he grabbed his hat and coat and walked out.

A LONG and painful silence followed. I was the one to break it.

"I'm sorry, Mickey."

She was standing near the window, pretending to look out. Her

Ridge community and three from Sedalia, Mrs. C. L. Carter, Mrs.
Frank Leach and Mrs. A. A. Ferguson, met at the home of Mrs.
Roy Ragar December 6 and organized the Green Ridge Garden club. The group voted to join the Federation of Garden clubs.

Officers elected are: President,
Mrs. Lusk; vice president, Mrs. J.
B. Myers; second vice president,
Mrs. Stewart; secretary, Mrs. John Palmer; treasurer, Mrs. G. D. Rayburn; parliamentarian, Mrs. Roy Ragar; auditor, Mrs. Royal Ragar.

Refreshments were served.

The regular meeting day of the club will be the first Tuesday of each month.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kilderman and family, 404 South Hancock avenue, were spending the evening with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P.
W. Kilderman, 1006 East Fifth street, when a group of fifty friends gathered for a surprise party in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mr. W. H. Kilderman's birthday, Monday evening.

Guests were Rev. and Mrs. Albert Crawley and children, Louise and Donald; Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Murray and children Peggy and Judy; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Trotter and children Beverly and Ordele; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Weed and children, Jeannie and Jimmy; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Spellmeyer and daughters, Doris and Dorothy; Mr.
and Mrs. Elvis Lemons and children, Georgia, Betty, Esie and Bill; Mrs. H. S. Ritchey and daughters, Irene and Lujene; Mrs.
Opal Kelley and son, Norris Gene;
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reed, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Buhlig; Mrs. J. R. Stanton, Mrs. Vernon Brownfield, Mrs.
Jessie Reed; Maxine Kroenke, Evelyn Huffman, Roy Huffman, Ray Murray, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Kilderman and son, Jerry, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. (Kelly) Kilderman and children, Jackie Duane and Ronald Dean.

The evening was spent in games and conversation after which refreshments were served.

The guest of honor received many nice gifts.

Mrs. C. S. Arnest, 1303 South
Monteau avenue, entertained
Tuesday afternoon with a party in honor of the fifth birthday anniversary of her little son, Charles.

A gaily decorated Christmas tree delighted the children and favors were Santa Claus paper hats.

The main feature of the party was a fish pond from which each received a gift, and stunts were enjoyed.

Little guests were Ronnie and Jimmy Dirck, Sandra Smith, Tommy Gray, Carol Lee and Donnie Shirley, Wayne Ellis Brown, Mark and Marvin Medler, Bill and Marjorie Sidwell, Charles and Johnny Jacks, Lorne Suth-erlin, Dale Maggard and Elizabeth Janssen, Vickie Van Dyne and John Bill Richards were invited but unable to attend.

Individual birthday cakes were served with ice cream cones.

Mrs. Arnest was assisted in entertaining by her sister-in-law,
Mrs. James Eisenhart.

The Thursday club met November 1 at the home of Mrs. George Landes. Because of cold weather and illness, only five members and three visitors were present.
Mrs. Landes presided over the business meeting. Roll call was answered with Christmas gift suggestions. The news letter was read by Mrs. Raymond Wasson.

Mrs. Landes served refreshments, after which a social hour was enjoyed.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. B. L. Rogers in December.

silence was becoming unbearable.
"I said I'm sorry. Why don't you answer?"

She still didn't look around.
"Sorry!" she repeated. Her voice was so tense and low that it didn't sound like Mickey. "Sorry for what? For having brought us here? For having got Don mixed up in something he doesn't understand?"

Slowly she walked away from the window and dropped in an armchair. She leaned her head against the back. There was a weary hopelessness in every line of her body.

"Who is this Mr. Boggio? And what does he do?"

I tried to stall.

I brought up the matter of professional ethics. A lawyer couldn't discuss his clients' affairs.
Being a lawyer was like being a priest. People told you things you couldn't repeat.

Then I realized I'd as good as admitted that Mickey's suspicions about Boggio were justified, so I quickly backed down. There was nothing wrong with Boggio. At most he was a crank, a wealthy old guy with a persecution complex. And the reason I'd objected to Don taking that bodyguard job was merely because I knew he could do better than dedicate his future to Boggio's vague fears.

She didn't look at me, but kept her gaze fixed on the carpet. I couldn't tell if I was making any headway or not. So I went on talking, afraid to stop for fear the momentum would be lost. And all the time I talked I knew how phony it sounded. But somehow I was still clinging to the hope that she'd believe me. Encouraged by her silence, I took her hands.
Maybe the physical contact would bridge this awful gulf between us.
And then at last she looked up.
Her hands were still in mine but they were limp. However, the expression in her eyes was eloquent enough. I was cut short. I just couldn't continue dishing out lies.

All of a sudden she pulled her hands away, as if mine were dirty.
Nobody had ever looked at me with such loathing.

"Get out, Leo," she murmured.
"Go on, get out!"

Eight Paroled By Gov. Donnell

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Gov. Forrest C. Donnell Wednesday paroled eight inmates of the state prison, including Mack Forland, 32, serving a life sentence for a St. Louis murder.

Forland was convicted in 1934 of helping kill Bertha Cannon in April, 1933. Court records showed Forland held a group of dice players at bay with a pistol while John Dunn, now serving a life sentence for murder, shot the woman.

A previous request for parole by Forland was denied by Governor Donnell in 1942.

Other paroles granted by the governor included:

Harold Anderson, who served nearly 12 years of a 25-year sentence for a Kansas City robbery.

John Hibner, sentenced in 1943 to a four-year term for grand larceny in Jasper county.

George W. Reimer, sentenced in 1934 to 25 years for robbery in Jackson county.

at Tillsbury Island, six miles south of Vancouver. He was instantly killed and the aircraft wrecked. His name was not immediately announced.

Ratify Continuing Sugar Importation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The senate ratified Wednesday a treaty between the United States and 16 other nations continuing sugar importation and marketing quotas.

Signed at London last August, the protocol extends for one year—to August 31, 1945—the international sugar compact first negotiated in 1937.

Reject Nominee As Postmaster

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The senate rejected Wednesday the nomination of Rachel Elgiva McCracken as postmaster of Galt, Mo.

Sen. Clark (D-Mo) told the senate the nomination was "personally objectionable" to Senator Truman (D-Mo.) the vice president-elect, who was absent.

Aides of Senator Truman said that under normal patronage procedure postmaster appointments were submitted to the County Democratic Chairman for approval and that in this case approval was not given.

They added that Senator Truman therefore withheld his approval of Rachel McCracken, a Republican, although he had "nothing personal" against her.

She was No. 1 on the eligible list for the position following an examination, but the rejection will result in a new examination, they said.

At Loss To Understand
GALT, Mo., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Rachel Elgiva McCracken said Wednesday she was at a loss to understand why her nomination as postmaster at Galt was rejected by the senate.

"The only reason I can think of for Mr. Truman's objection is our difference in politics, because I don't know him personally," said Mrs. McCracken, a Republican.

"I am the wife of Ronald E. McCracken, a veteran of World War I who has service-connected disabilities which should give me preference for the job. I made the highest grade in the competitive examination which were given in October, 1943. The three highest grades were made by Republicans."

Mrs. McCracken, a school teacher, said he "did not campaign either way" in the November election.

"I am at a loss to understand his (Truman's) 'personal objection' unless it is purely politics," she continued.

"I think this is rather a poor time for him to take such an attitude when they're discussing what they will do for the veterans of World War II. I believe they should set an example by doing something for the veterans of World War I."

Stunts In Bomber; Dies In Crash

VANCOUVER, B. C., Dec. 7.—(Canadian Press)—A pilot under training ran amok in a twin-engine bomber Wednesday and for four and a half hours endangered lives of civilians and servicemen as he dived and performed seemingly impossible maneuvers before finally plunging to his death.

An attempt was made to drive him down to an airfield by using fighter planes. Pilots were instructed not to fire on him, but to

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—It has now been exactly three years since the backbone of the Pacific fleet was virtually wiped out at Pearl Harbor. That is one reason for the failure to court martial Admiral Kimmel and General Short. That is one reason for the record and would have had to come out in any court-martial of Admiral Kimmel and General Short. That is one reason for the failure to court martial Admiral Kimmel and General Short.

There have been two basic reasons for hush-hush secrecy and last week's whitewash of Kimmel and Short. One is the already admitted fact that several other officers in both the army and navy—including some really top-bracket men—were involved. The other is the clash of opinion inside the cabinet in 1941 regarding the wisdom of sending the strong note to the Emperor of Japan proposing that Japan get out of all China and offering a non-aggression pact if she would.

Both Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull felt that the United States had appeased Japan long enough; that during this appeasement Japan had reached out farther and farther, even taking bases in French Indo-China, just as Hitler had reached out for Czechoslovakia and Austria before he finally precipitated war.

Secretaries Knox and Stimson, however, felt that the United States was not prepared and that the note to the emperor would bring war. They favored continued appeasement and went on record in writing to that effect.

In the end, Roosevelt and Hull overruled them. They felt that Japan could not be appeased any longer without serious loss of U. S. prestige and strategic position. The note to the emperor was sent Nov. 26.

However, the written opinions by Knox and Stimson remain in the record.

Despite this, the crews of Kimmel's fleet were permitted shore liberty on that same night, 40 per cent of the officers were absent next morning when the attack started, there was no system of air patrol any distance from Pearl Harbor and no listening devices to detect hostile airplanes were in operation except during a few hours at night.

It was not revealed in the Roberts' Report, but in addition to the official warnings sent from Washington, Kimmel and Short got a confidential warning from the FBI. Hoover's men had been tapping the telephones of the Japanese consulates in Honolulu and, on the morning of Dec. 6, listened in on an 18-minute conversation to Tokyo during which a very suspicious weather report was given plus some other code language

JUST Town Talk

A SEDALIA Woman HAS BEEN Having TROUBLE KEEPING THE DOORS OF A China Closet CLOSED SO SHE DECIDED THE ONLY WAY IT COULD BE DONE WOULD BE TO LOCK THEM SHE TRIED ALL THE EXTRA KEYS SHE HAD IN THE HOUSE BUT NONE SEEMED TO FIT SO SHE CALLED A FRIEND AND ASKED HIM IF HE'D BRING THE EXTRA KEYS IN HIS HOUSEHOLD OVER AND SEE IF HE COULD FIND ONE THAT WOULD LOCK THOSE DOORS HE DUG UP ALL THE OLD KEYS HE HAD WENT OVER LOOKED AT THE CHINA CLOSET DOORS TRIED A KEY AND STOPPED WITH THAT "WELL NO WONDER!" HE SAID "THERE ISN'T A LOCK HERE ALL YOU HAVE IS A KEY HOLE IN A PIECE OF WOOD" AND THE WOMAN WAS OF COURSE EMBARRASSED AND COMPELLED TO FIND SOME OTHER WAY TO KEEP THE DOORS CLOSED I THANK YOU

which so worried the FBI men that a transcript of the conversation was taken immediately to army and navy intelligence.

Naval intelligence was not interested. But the chief military intelligence officer considered the telephone message so important that he took it immediately to General Short, who was on the golf course. Short put the message in his pocket.

Incident of Jap Submarine

However, the most inexcusable dereliction on the part of the navy was the way it laughed off a Jap submarine sighted just outside Pearl Harbor one hour before the attack; and also the fact that this or another submarine was able to cruise all around inside Pearl Harbor three hours before the attack.

This is touched upon very delicately in the Roberts Report. But the real facts are that one Jap sub arrived at the entrance of Pearl Harbor at 1:50 a. m. on Dec. 7, waited until 4:20 when the submarine net was lowered to let out a garbage scow, then cruised all round inside the harbor, marking on a chart the exact location of each U. S. battleship, destroyer and cruiser. (The sub later was sunk and when raised, its chart showed the exact time it had passed each U. S. vessel.)

The sub passed outside the harbor at 5:25 a. m. and apparently lay off the harbor's mouth, where it radioed the location of U. S. vessels to Jap airplane carriers.

About an hour before the attack, a sub was sighted by the U. S. S. Antares and the U. S. S. Ward, which reported to the watch officer ashore that they had sighted a sampan towing a small object which looked like a submarine, to which the shore officer observed that "these damn destroyer skippers are always seeing submarines." He also observed that it was too early to disturb the admiral.

Shortly thereafter, the Ward reported that it had sunk the submarine. At this point, 7:12 a. m. the watch officer finally got up nerve to wake his chief. However, no alert warning or other alarm was sounded. Pearl Harbor slept blissfully on.

The officer in command of Pearl Harbor naval base was Rear Admiral Claude C. Bloch. Kimmel commanded the fleet.

Army-Navy Feud

Another tragic failure which the Roberts Report glossed over was the long standing row between the army and navy air forces, which culminated in a ruling that the army could not fly more than 100 miles out to sea, and that the navy, though it had fewer planes and very slow-moving ones at that, was responsible for patrolling farther out to sea.

Inside fact is that the army air corps warned the navy prior to Pearl Harbor about the danger of leaving large segments of the adjacent sea unpatrolled, but nothing was done about it. Army and navy had tape at that time was carried to such a point that the army could not begin firing anti-aircraft guns against the enemy until it received word from the navy that naval off shore defenses had failed.

These are some of the things which would have come out in any court-martial. Fortunately, such defects have now been ironed out, but it took a terrific tragedy like Pearl Harbor to jolt the Brass Hats out of the accumulated lethargy of peacetime security.

Minor Leagues Appear
Expansion Conscious;
Not Survival Minded

By Joe Reichler
BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 7.—(P)—
For the first time since the start of World War Two, minor league baseball today appeared to be more expansion conscious than survival minded.
As the minors went into their 43rd annual convention, four additional leagues loomed as possible starters next year.
After yesterday's brief opening conclave, when routine committees were appointed, most of the leagues held individual meetings.
It developed that the North Carolina State and the Carolina Loop will definitely operate; and Canadian and Indiana state circuits may be formed.
The Western International will decide on '45 plans at a January meeting. The Interstate and Ohio State leagues may expand from six to eight teams.
Three Rivers and Quebec, granted permission to withdraw for the duration from the Canadian-American league, may form the nucleus of a new circuit.

The South Atlantic and Texas loops joined the Can-am in deciding to remain idle during '45.
The Texas league, however, will hold a mid-summer meeting to consider 1946 operation.
The naming of Burleigh Grimes
as manager of Rochester's International league club by President
Sam Breadon of the parent St.
Louis Cardinals, was the most important announcement of the day.
Grimes piloted Toronto in the same loop last year.
Other managerial announcements were Ival Goodman, Portsmouth, Va., succeeding Jimmy Foxy, pending his release from the Chicago Cubs via waivers and Bill Harris, Erie, Pa. Foxy may act as a roaming coach for the Cubs among the Chicago farm clubs. Al Vincent was named Detroit Tiger scout.

Negotiations were still brewing for the purchase of the Minneapolis club of the American Association of Rogers Hornsby, former National league batting champion.

President Charles Hurth announced his New Orleans club had ended its working agreement with the Brooklyn Dodgers and would become an independent club with Fresco Thompson continuing as the manager.

Thirteen amendments were to be considered in today's most important association meeting. Pacific Coast league moves to raise the draft price and assure territorial restriction and a Southern Association proposal permitting bonus payments to free agents will be considered today.

Willie Hoppe Drops
To Fourth Place Tie

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—(P)—The standings of the world championship three-cushion billiard tourney had a strange look today—
Willie Hoppe wasn't at the top.
The 57-year-old "Boy Wonder,"
who has held the title the last three years, suffered his third defeat since 1940 in championship play last night. He bowed to Brooklyn's Arthur Rubin, 50 to 47, in 43 innings.
With Hoppe out of the first place deadlock, the lead was shared by

Nationwide Bible Reading

Today — Chapter 7 of St. Matthew's Gospel A Selection. Jesus Is Speaking

Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you; for every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened.

Or what man is there of you, whom if his son ask bread, will he give him a stone? Or if he ask a fish, will he give him a serpent?

If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask him? Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them; for this is the law and the prophets.

Enter ye in at the strait gate; for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat: Because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it.

Tomorrow — St. John 15.

Discuss Local Government

Report On Study On County And City In 1943

Lester Fisher, of Jefferson City, field supervisor of the Missouri Public Expenditure Survey and executive director, Raymond Shaw were in Sedalia Wednesday night and met with Mayor A. H. Wilks, the City Council, Judge J. V. Kesserson and a number of business men to discuss a thesis written on a study of local government in Pettis county and Sedalia, in 1943 by two Sloan Foundation students from the University of Denver, Colo.

The students, H. F. Gordon and George Nichols, came to Sedalia February 8, 1943, spent four months here making a study of the government, city and county offices, and wrote the thesis as part of their required work to obtain their Master of Science in Government Management degrees.

Interesting Discussions

The report, typed, covers 423 pages, and deals with the history and background of the city and county, the government of Sedalia, government of the county, and the schools.

Discussions on part of the report on the city of Sedalia, to which the meeting Wednesday night was limited, were interesting. One recommendation was the inclusion in the city's book-keeping of an encumbrance accounting system, showing a daily picture of the amount available to be used. Another would be a system, similar to the merit system, for employment of personnel under the department heads. They would be required to take an examination. Suggest A Change

Particularly interesting was the discussion on the duties of the assessor, and recommendation of a change in the method of assessing property. The report stated that of 43 pieces of property looked into, some were assessed at four times their sale price, others as low as one-half the sale price. A new total assessment of property was suggested, made by one skilled in that line of work. It was also recommended that improvements on real estate be assessed separately, because, while the land value might remain the same, improvements depreciate, or the value increases by new buildings.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

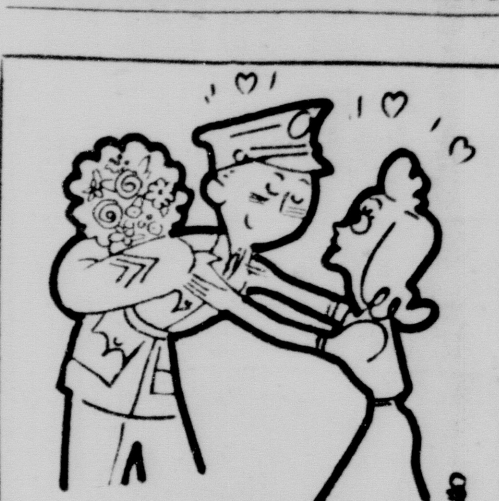

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or steady passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
